

China Data Protection Information

The following data protection information gives an overview of our collection and processing of your data.

Duties of disclosure upon collection of personal data in accordance with the Personal Information Protection Law of the People's Republic of China (PIPL)

Data privacy is important – please read this document.

The Credit Suisse entities and establishments listed in section 12 of this statement and their overseas affiliates (as applicable) have issued this Privacy Statement in light of the enactment of the PIPL.

This Privacy Statement supplements but does not supersede any consents you have previously given us or other terms and conditions in our agreement with you that govern the collection, storage, retention, use, processing, transmission, provision, sharing, disclosure, deletion and any other handling (referred to in this Privacy Statement as “processing”) of your Personal Data by us.

With the following information, we would like to give you an overview of how we will process your personal data and of your rights according to the PIPL. The details on what data will be processed and which method will be used depend significantly on the nature of your business relationship with us and (if you are a client) the services applied for or agreed upon.

“China” as used in this statement refers to the People's Republic of China, and only for the purpose of this statement does not include Hong Kong, Macau and Taiwan.

“We”, “us” and “our” as used in this statement refers to each and any of the Credit Suisse entities and establishments listed (as the context requires) as responsible for data processing in section 12 of this statement and their overseas affiliates (as applicable).

“You” and “your” as used in this statement refers to individuals:

- with whom we come into contact, or in respect of whom we obtain personal data, in the usual course of dealings with our clients, our service providers, and our other business counterparties or transaction participants, which may include, without limitation, employees, directors, shareholders, officers, trustees, power of attorney holder, security provider, beneficial owners, authorized signatory, and other personnel of such clients, service providers, business counterparties or transaction participants (each a “Connected Individual”) in all cases outside the Credit Suisse group (as applicable to you, “Your Organisation”); or
- who themselves are our clients.

Please send back an email if you have any questions or disagreement with the content of this statement. With apologies for the short notice, but if there is no written response received from you within 7 days upon receipt of our email notifying you of this statement or your becoming aware of this notice, you are deemed to have provided the relevant consent or separate consent for our collection and processing of your data based on the terms herein.

1. What Sources and Data Do We Use?

Data from you: We process personal data about you that we obtain from you in the context of our business relationship with you and / or Your Organisation (as applicable). We do this in order to facilitate, enable and / or maintain that relationship and / or to provide services to our clients or for other reasons specified below. In addition, in carrying on our business relationship with you or Your Organisation, information may be collected about you indirectly from monitoring or other means (e.g. video surveillance, recording of telephone calls and monitoring e-mails). In these circumstances, the information is not accessed by us on a continuous or routine basis, but it may be used for compliance purposes.

Data from other sources: We also process personal data about you that we obtain from publicly accessible sources (such as online registers or directories) or that is legitimately transferred to us by other companies in the Credit Suisse group or from other third parties. These may include Your Organisation as well as third parties not related to you or Your Organisation, such as settlement service providers, central securities depositories, exchanges, central clearing counterparties and other similar entities, databases, and third party service providers such as professional advisers, insurers and risk consulting firms.

Personal data relating to a third party: If you provide us with personal data relating to a third party, for example, your spouse, children, parents or a Connected Individual, you represent and warrant that you have obtained the separate consent of such third party to you providing us with such personal data. You must ensure that you make such third parties and your Connected Individuals aware of our name, our contact information, and the scope, of and purposes for which we will collect and process their personal data and how it will be processed as set out in this Privacy Statement.

Types of personal data: The types of personal data we process may include:

- contact details, including private and / or business phone numbers, postal/residential and email addresses
- identification data such as passports, National Insurance or Social Security numbers, driving licence, ID cards, property register identification, social network user names, customer identifiers (CIF, IBAN / BIC), relationship identifiers (e.g. client segment and account currency), photographs
- authentication data such as sample signatures
- marital status, name of spouse, number of children (if applicable)
- tax status (e.g. tax ID)
- order data (e.g. payment data and account information)
- data from the fulfilment of our contractual obligations
- information about your financial situation (e.g. source of wealth, incomes, benefits, mortgage information, shareholdings)
- video surveillance and telephone / audio recordings
- data relating to criminal convictions and offences (including excerpts of criminal register)
- data related to designation of your status as a politically exposed person (PEP) and related information
- marketing and sales data (e.g. customer relationship documentation)
- data relating to your habits and preferences
- dietary and access requirements (e.g. for event organisation purposes)
- data from your interactions with us, our branches, our internet websites, our apps, our social media pages, meetings, calls, chats, emails, interviews and phone conversations
- documentation data (e.g. file notes or meeting minutes from a consultation, client needs and product usage)
- data relating to your current and past professional roles and employment, and education (e.g. corporate title, membership of professional associations or bodies, career histories or biographies, job function, knowledge and experience in investment matters, qualifications and skills)
- health data
- other data similar to the broad categories mentioned above.

In addition, all of our websites use a standard technology called "cookies" to collect information about how our websites are used, which may include your personal data. The use of cookies is essential to the operation of our websites. You may opt-out of receiving cookies by disabling cookie support but doing so may prevent our websites from functioning properly and you may not be able to use fully all of the available features and information. If you would like to know more about our policies in relation to the use of cookies and your online security, please refer to our Privacy & Cookie Policy available at <https://www.credit-suisse.com>.

2. What Do We Process Your Data for (Purpose of Processing) and On What Legal Basis?

We process your personal data for one or more of the following reasons.

a. Due to legal obligations

We are subject to various legal and regulatory obligations, including without limitation prudential and conduct regulation of banks and investment firms, as applicable, regulation of financial markets, compliance with any court orders, investor protection regulations, securities regulations, laws and administrative regulations/orders relating to money laundering, terrorism finance, sanctions and any tax laws. The purposes of processing may include:

- identity checks, fraud and financial crime and market abuse prevention or detection. If fraud is detected, Your Organisation, or individuals connected to it or you could be refused certain services, finance
- fulfilling control and reporting obligations under applicable financial regulations including securities regulations
- fulfilling requirements related to our licences and regulatory permissions
- complying with investor protection or conduct of business regulation (such as carrying out suitability or appropriateness assessments)
- complying with regulatory record keeping obligations
- complying with regulatory obligations in relation to measuring and managing risks within the Credit Suisse group.

b. For fulfilment of contractual obligations

We may process your personal data in order to maintain our business relationship with you in accordance with our legal agreement(s) with you. Such processing may take place in order to carry out obligations or exercise rights we may have pursuant to the legal agreement(s) with you, to take steps necessary in order to conclude a legal agreement with you or to take other steps at your or your representative's request prior to entering into a legal agreement with you. If you are our client, the level and nature of processing of your personal data that we may carry out pursuant to this paragraph will likely depend on the specific product or service to be provided to you (and can include needs assessments and other assessments to provide advice and support to you, as well as to carry out transactions contemplated in, or necessary to fulfil, such legal agreement).

c. As a result of your consent

There may be circumstances where we ask for your consent or separate consent to process your personal data. As long as you have granted us this consent, this processing is legal on the basis of that consent.

We will also process your personal data upon your consent or separate consent for the following relevant interests pursued by us or a third party, for example, in:

- developing, deploying and supporting our products and services
- developing and furthering our business and business relationships, and keeping our clients and other stakeholders satisfied
- protecting our businesses and the integrity of the financial markets
- managing risk and securing our systems, assets, infrastructure and premises
- exercising and defending our legal rights and position anywhere in the world
- complying with legal and regulatory obligations and cooperating with regulatory, judicial and other authorities and bodies around the world
- supporting other Credit Suisse companies in pursuing the above interests.

The purposes for which we may process your personal data (and such processing may involve sharing data between members of Credit Suisse group and/or external parties) in connection with the above interests include the following:

- carrying on business relationships with clients and other parties
- providing services to clients
- due diligence in relation to transactions members of Credit Suisse group are involved in
- performing obligations and exercising rights under and otherwise carrying out contracts, or taking pre-contractual measures with Your Organisation or a third party
- management of the businesses and further development of the services and products of the Credit Suisse group
- reviewing and optimizing procedures for needs assessment for the purpose of direct client discussions
- marketing or market and opinion research
- obtaining personal data from publicly available sources for client acquisition purposes
- compliance with licencing, permission and / or licencing exemption requirements and regulatory requests or guidance related to such licences, permissions or exemptions

- compliance with applicable laws, regulations and judicial orders outside China
- compliance with regulatory guidance, policy statements, best practice and associated policy requirements and controls in connection with the carrying on business
- facilitation of and responding to, regulatory requests and supervisory visits, and otherwise acting in open and collaborative manner with competent regulatory authorities
- prevention of and investigations related to financial crime, including fraud, financing of terrorism and money laundering, and compliance with sanctions, including know your customer (KYC) and regular politically exposed persons (PEP) screening
- asserting legal claims and defences in legal disputes
- carrying out conflict checks
- handling client complaints
- warehousing appropriate information within a single jurisdiction in order to co-ordinate the services and business activities of the Credit Suisse group and satisfying other administrative needs across Credit Suisse group
- facilitating operational actions in connection with our business relationships (e.g. processing of payments, billing)
- validating the authority of signatories (e.g. when concluding agreements and transactions)
- risk control across Credit Suisse group
- consulting with credit rating agencies to investigate creditworthiness and credit risks where we may have an exposure to you
- securing and operating Credit Suisse group's IT systems
- video surveillance and measures to protect the rights of an owner of premises to keep out trespassers and to provide site security (e.g. access controls). Please also note that your personal data collected in video surveillance and telephone / audio recordings might also be used for purposes other than maintaining public security, including, for example, to meet the regulatory requirements of financial regulators both in China and in other jurisdictions
- improving, enhancing or developing new goods or services
- improving, enhancing or developing new methods or processes for business operations in relation to Credit Suisse goods and services
- learning, analysing or understanding behavior, demographics and preferences of existing or prospective clients (including groups of individuals segmented by profile)
- identifying goods or services that may be suitable for existing or prospective clients (including groups of individuals segmented by profile) or personalising or customising any such goods or services for individuals
- carrying out market research.

You can withdraw your consent at any time by contacting the Data Protection Office (see section 12 below). Withdrawal of consent does not affect the legality of data processing carried out prior to withdrawal. However, this may affect our ability to provide you with our services, or maintain our business relationship with you.

3. Who Receives My Data?

The following paragraphs set out details of the recipients or categories of recipients to which we transfer your personal data.

a. The Credit Suisse group

We will share or otherwise process your personal data with entities in the Credit Suisse group and in accordance with section 4 of this statement as applicable, for example:

- in connection with any services offered or provided by us or any other member of the Credit Suisse group
- to facilitate carrying on the business of the Credit Suisse group and providing services to clients on a global basis
- for risk control including internal approvals processes
- to warehouse appropriate information within a single jurisdiction in order to co-ordinate the services and business activities of the Credit Suisse group
- to pass on information about you to any members of the Credit Suisse group in connection with any services which we think you or Your Organisation may be interested in

- in connection with financial or regulatory reporting purposes.

b. External recipients

We may transfer personal data about you:

- to public entities and institutions (e.g. regulatory, quasi-regulatory, tax or other authorities, law enforcement agencies, courts, arbitrational bodies, fraud prevention agencies)
- to other credit and financial service institutions or comparable institutions in order to carry on a business relationship with you or Your Organisation (depending on the contract, e.g. correspondent banks, custodian banks, brokers, securities exchanges, credit rating agencies)
- to third parties in connection with transactions that members of Credit Suisse group are involved in (e.g. correspondent banks, brokers, exchanges, central clearing counterparties, depositaries, trustees, trade repositories, processing units and third-party custodians, issuers, investors, prospective buyers and other transaction participants and their representatives)
- to prospective buyers as part of a sale, merger or other disposal of any of our business or assets to a natural or legal person, public authority, regulatory agency or body for which you have given us your consent to transfer personal data to
- to professional advisors including law firms, accountants, auditors and tax advisors
- to insurers
- to suppliers (service providers and sub-contractors) and agents appointed by us for the purposes given. These are companies in the categories of IT services, logistics, printing services, telecommunications, advice and consulting, and sales and marketing and translation services, located in any jurisdiction.

4. Will My Personal Data Be Transferred outside of China?

In certain circumstances, we may transfer your personal data to another country outside of China. You understand that the data protection legislation outside China may not give you as much protection as the data protection legislation within the territory of China.

For transfers to countries outside China, we will rely on a derogation applicable to the specific situation (e.g. if the transfer is necessary to perform our contract with you such as when making an international payment) or your separate consent and takes other steps as required by the PIPL, for example implementing contractual clauses, to ensure the protection of your personal data to a standard that is at least comparable to that provided under the PIPL.

Please contact our Data Protection Office if you would like to request to see a copy of the specific safeguards applied to the export of your information. Contact details are provided in Section 12 below.

5. How Will My Personal Data Be Protected?

We protect personal data in our possession or under our control by making reasonable physical, technical, administrative and procedural security arrangements to prevent unauthorised access, collection, use, disclosure, copying, modification, disposal or similar risks.

6. For How Long Will My Data Be Stored?

- We will process and store your personal data, at least, for the period equal to a term of our agreement(s) with you (if applicable). We may need to process and store your personal data after the expiration of such time in order to comply with our legal obligations, initiate, defend or take any other action in relation to the legal proceedings or as long as it is lawful for us to do so. It should be noted here that our business relationships are often long-term relationships, which are set up with you or Your Organisation on the basis of periods of years.
- We will normally retain your records for a minimum of ten years to comply with regulatory and contractual requirements unless there is a particular reason to hold the records for longer, including legal hold¹ requirements (e.g. for the purpose of legal proceedings), which require us to keep records for an undefined period of time.

¹ A legal hold is a process that an organisation uses to preserve all forms of relevant information when litigation is reasonably anticipated

7. What Data Privacy Rights Do I Have?

In relation to your personal data, and to the extent permitted under the PIPL, you may have the right inter alia:

- to request access to and a copy of your personal data
- to request an explanation for the rules on the processing of your personal data
- to request the rectification of inaccurate or incomplete personal data
- to request the restriction of the processing of your personal data
- to request the deletion of your personal data
- to data portability (i.e. to request to transmit your personal data to another data controller via automatic means).

To exercise any of the above rights you do not need to use a particular form but you should write to our Data Protection Office in accordance with section 12 of this statement. We will then assess and respond to your request to exercise your rights.

Please note that some of the above rights are subject to limitations in some situations, and that the exercise of the above rights may affect our ability to continue a business relationship with you or Your Organisation.

If applicable, you also have a right to make a complaint to the competent supervisory authority, which is the Cyberspace Administration of China.

You may also withdraw consent granted to us for the processing of your personal data at any time by contacting the Data Protection Office (see Section 12 below). Please also see section 2.c of this privacy statement for further details on consent.

8. Am I Obligated to Provide Data?

In the context of our relationship, you may need to provide certain personal data that is required for accepting and carrying out a business relationship, fulfilling contractual obligations or that we are legally obliged to collect. Without this data, we may not be in a position to enter into a legal agreement, provide services, or initiate or maintain a business relationship.

For example, and where applicable to our business relationship, anti-money laundering regulations may require us to identify you on the basis of your identification documents before establishing a business relationship and to collect and put on record data including your name, place and date of birth, nationality, address and identification details for this purpose. In order for us to be able to comply with these statutory obligations, you must provide us with the necessary information and documents in accordance with such regulations, and to immediately disclose any changes over the course of our relationship. If you do not provide us with the necessary information and documents, we cannot enter into or continue the business relationship you require.

9. Will Automated Decisions and Profiling Take Place?

We process some of your data automatically to assess certain personal aspects (profiling), which is necessary to assist us to personalize and improve the quality of our services provided to you and to help us meet legal and regulatory requirements. For example, we may use profiling, including behavioural analysis in the following ways:

- to combat money laundering, terrorism financing, fraud and other financial crime, and assess risks and offences that pose a danger to assets. Data assessments (including on payment transactions) are also carried out for this purpose. At the same time, these measures also serve to protect you or Your Organisation.
- we use assessment tools in order to be able to specifically notify you and advise you or Your Organisation about our products and services, including market and opinion research. These tools allow our communications and marketing to be tailored to you as needed.

You have the right to refuse the application of these tools, which may, however, affect our ability to manage a business relationship with or to provide well-tailored products and services to you or Your Organisation. Please also note that this right is not available to you in certain situations (e.g. the automated-processing authorized by laws or regulations).

10. We May Collect and Process Biometric Data and other Sensitive Personal Data

From You

If we collect your biometric data or other sensitive personal data, such as financial account, financial status, and ID numbers, your separate consent will be required. Sensitive personal data processing could place you at risk to your rights and security, of varying likelihood and severity depending on the type of sensitive personal data and the purposes for which these data are used. This could lead to physical, material or non-material damage, in particular: discrimination, identity theft or fraud, financial loss, damage to the reputation, loss of confidentiality of personal data protected by professional secrecy, unauthorised reversal of pseudonymization. Nevertheless, your sensitive personal data will be processed by us only for lawful and relevant purposes as set out in section 2 of this statement and all legally required steps will be taken to ensure security of your sensitive personal data.

Please note that if you do not provide us with your sensitive personal data, we may not be in a position to enter into a legal agreement, provide services, or initiate or maintain a business relationship with you or Your Organisation.

11. Changes to this Privacy Statement

This Privacy Statement was last updated on 27 April 2022. We may need to make changes to it in the future. We will post updates to this Privacy Statement to our website.
